

Unity and camaraderie amongst Black professional graduate students is what brought Lauren E Williams to the National Black Graduate Student Association. Unity and camaraderie are what she also hopes to build as Southeastern Regional Representative.

Ms. Williams has created a career profile that includes issues management, communication strategy, public policy, and student mobilization. This past election season, Williams was selected to be Campaign Manager for a major City Council race in Atlanta, GA where she directed several non-partisan events across the city to engage the Power generation in the political process. Increasing voter participation during the general and run-off elections, this campaign was a great success.

More recently, Ms. Williams serves as the Public Policy Coordinator at the Feminist Women's Health Center where she focuses on legislative efforts to mobilize students, coalition partners, and friends around progressive reproductive justice policies and issues. In Summer 2010 she will hold a internship with the Congressional Research Service and upon returning to Atlanta will take a position as Chief of Staff to a local City Councilwoman.

Ms. Williams has received her Bachelor's degree in Communications from the University of Pittsburgh and is completing her Master's in Public Administration and Public Policy at Clark Atlanta University where she serves as President of the Student Government Association and Alpha Epsilon Lambda Honors Society. Outside of school Ms. Williams holds memberships in the White House Project Leadership Council, , Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated, and Blacks in Government.

Lauren is proud to serve as Regional Representative for the MIGHTY Southeastern Region!
